PUT THE LOAN OVER.

REGARDLESS of any political differences the first and most important duty of the American public today is to see that the Victory loan is oversubscribed and that the subscription is reached in as short a time as possible without disrupting the ordinary course of business. Tonopah will do its duty as it always has done but there should not be any faltering or temporizing. The money is needed and the money must be had, so it is up to every citizen to put his shoulder to the wheel and boost for the four billion loan demanded by the exigencies of war. The country may have witnessed a wild debauch in extravagances but that is the fault of our system of government which refused to prepare for war before war was at our doors and whistling shells menaced the prosperity of the chief seaports. Remember the boys who went to the front at the call of duty. They did their share in saving the world for democracy and the least the stay-at-homes can do is to provide the sinews that will pull the nation out of debt and liquidate the obligations incurred in carrying on the war. We can afford to suspend the ordinary activities of business for a few days while we all lend our best efforts to putting over this enormous loan. Tonopah has been singularly blessed by a benign fortune and we all should acknowledge our willingness to share the national burden by rolling up the subscriptions so fast that the remainder of the country will raise their voices in praise of the public spirit manifested in this quarter. Promptness in subscribing will do more to emphasize the substantial and material side of the Divide boom than any other medium that can be invoked at this time. The apportionment of Nye county should be oversubscribed the first day. It is in the power of our citizens to do this, and the quicker they acquit themselves of this patriotic task the sooner will business resume its normal course. Out of the millions coined in Tonopah during the past few months the allotment of $400,000 should be a trifling matter to negotiate. Go to it, boys, and prove that your heart is with those who risked the supreme sacrifice that we might continue to live and enjoy the present prosperity that radiates from Tonopah.

HE SEES HIS FINISH.

POSTMASTER GENERAL BURLERSON has chosen to defy the publishers of the United States who took up the fight of the great American people and placed in concrete form a protest against the Kaiserism that has dominated and well-nigh ruined the post office service of the nation. Instead of meeting the charges preferred against his administration, BurlerSON, the nonentity from the South, who was clad with a little brief authority, replied with invective and abuse indulging in personal attacks which should have been beneath the dignity of a cabinet officer. Instead of defending his management of the post office and his maladministration of the telegraph service he chose to retort with vilification and abuse that assailed the characters of the best known editors and publishers of the United States. The latter arraigned the post office for inefficiency and autocracy back by an array of facts that could not be controverted. Like the pusillanimous creature that he is BurlerSON rejoined by applying vile epithets to his accusers without attempting to disprove a single one of the allegations hurled at his head.

Such a course could not be continued by any one in a country other than the United States without evoking such an outburst of indignation as to bring the immediate resignation of the accused. The hand-writing is seen on the walls. The department is impeached in public estimation as an utterly discredited adjunct of a national administration that has challenged popular opinion ever since Wilson assumed the reins of office. After having asserted time and time again that the Postal Telegraph company was an enemy of the people and in revolt against the president, after having branded the leading capitalists of America engaged in the business of opposing the rotten Western Union monopoly and after having threatened Clarence Mackay with the direst consequences for not knuckling down to the contemptibly small meannesses and persecution of the government, BurlerSON pleads guilty to everything that has been fulminated against his management by announcing that all telegraph and telephone lines will be turned back to their respective owners without more ado as soon as congress can meet and enact the proper legislation. The postmaster general has bitten off more than he can masticate with comfort and now seeks to forestall congressional inquiry by turning the lines back to the companies which should never have been forced to a surrender of their rights and franchises.

Not satisfied with attacking the motives of capital BurlerSON engaged in a controversy with the American Federation of Labor wherein he denied the oft-told truth that he amassed his wealth by hiring convict labor which was kept in subjection by the exercise of the most atrocious discipline. With the severance of government control the country will find itself the beneficiary by securing better service, employees will find they are no longer subjected to a pitiless espionage and that their jobs are not conditioned on withholding criticism or in toadying to the powers that be in Washington.

LONDIS GETS THE GOAT.

A VOTE of thanks should be tendered Judge Landis, that fearless federal jurist for his valiant action in telling Mr. BurlerSON where to head in administering the affairs of his office in times of peace. The judge is the recognized exponent of constitutional law and he is not prone to crook his knee to any power in the land. This was demonstrated when he imposed a fine of $36,000,000 against the Standard Oil company for defying the law governing restraint of trade through its far reaching organization and by regulating prices of its products throughout the world. The death blow to the ambitions of BurlerSON was leveled when the court ruled that the postmaster had no authority to interfere with state rights in ordering schedules of charges within states. At one fell swoop Judge Landis told BurlerSON to go way back and sit down in the mourners' bench. The unscrambling of telegraph companies was ordered two days later, showing clearly the connection between the judicial opinion divesting the post office autocrat of the powers which he had arrogated to himself. This ruling is a death blow to the pretensions of the Wilson administration which has busied itself for the last six years by meddling in the affairs of every commonwealth grouped under the national constitution. The reprimand is a timely reminder that persons cannot override the law whose majesty has been outraged repeatedly by those who are supposed to administer it.

MINING BOOM HURT BY U. S.

CARSON CITY, April 29.—When our Uncle Samuel affixed the incorporation tax on stock issues and the funds on hand he awaited the state of Nevada under the belt. Of course this was before the Divide boom and the new program of listing Nevada mining stocks had taken on a promising outlook.

Under the old rules, before the incorporation tax, it was the custom for all incorporations to file for at least 1,000,000 shares at a dollar par. This would come under the incorporation tax. In order to sidestep this move the new incorporations are incorporated for $150,000 at a par value of 10 cents per share, just 10 per cent of the old plan. Formerly the secretary of state received an average of $125 per incorporation; now he receives approximately $30 for each one filed.

Secretary of State Brodigan stated that the office at the present time, with about 15 incorporations filed daily, is suffering a loss of close to $1500. This is calculated on the business done during the booms of Tonopah, Goldfield and Manhattan.

He further stated that the office today is carrying on a larger business than any time in its history. Between the filing of incorporations, preparing the laws for publication and supervising the journal of the two houses there is no time to loaf on the job. This does not include the automobile licenses which go out in a string each day. The 7000 mark has been passed by those securing licenses, and it is anticipated that at least 9000 will be out by the close of the year's business. As they bring in $4 per, it is worth while keeping 'bubbles' on the job.

SCRUGHAM HEAD OF VETERANS

J. G. Scrugham, state engineer and during the war a lieutenant colonel in the ordnance department, was unanimously chosen to be state commander of the United War Veterans at the session of the convention in Reno. J. E. Brinton of Ely was chosen vice-commander and T. J. D. Salter of Winnemucca, second vice-commander. James Burke of Reno, secretary, and W. E. Minford of McGill, treasurer, and Harry Scheeline, quartermaster.

The by-laws and constitution drawn up by the committee on by-laws were adopted and permanent organization effected. A delegation to the national convention to be held May 8 was also chosen to consist of E. L. Malsbury of Reno, P. J. Salter of Winnemucca, Wilson Malone of Tonopah, J. E. Brinton of Ely, Leland Young of Lovelock and J. B. Laveage of Fallon. A banquet in the Y. M. C. A. building given by the Red Cross ladies wound up the day's business, and the delegates adjourned to the dance.

CONTROL OF IRISH PORTS INSISTED ON

(The Associated Press)
 LONDON, April 29.—The executive committee of the navy league has adopted a resolution calling attention to what it describes as "the necessity of preserving in imperial and allied interests, both in peace and war, absolute control over Irish ports, harbors and communications and for maintaining inviolate the 'freedom of the seas' in the British sense of the term."

A preamble to the resolution shows that it was prompted by the fact that the United States house of representatives had adopted a resolution suggesting that the peace conference give favorable consideration to Ireland's plea for self-government.

AMUSEMENTS

PAULINE FREDERICK IN A THRILLING PICTURE TODAY

Pauline Frederick, beautiful and charming as ever, has scored another decisive triumph in the photoplay, "Her Final Reckoning," which will be the attraction at the Butler today. The theme of the picture deals with a gypsy girl who is stolen from her home by a Russian prince who forces her to become his mistress. When her child is born she names it Marsa for herself. When the prince dies, he leaves his wealth to the child, and when her mother dies, she goes to Paris where she meets Prince Zilah. Looming dark in the background of the young girl's life is the specter of her betrayal by a nobleman who, on hearing of her engagement to Prince Zilah, seeks to foist himself upon her and is nearly killed by her dogs, which she sets loose for that purpose. The prince learns the truth on the eve of their wedding, but after a brief separation period, filled with interesting events, the two are reconciled and find happiness in their love. The story is based on the play by Jules Claretie, the famous French playwright. Added to the feature will be a Ford Weekly and a Mutt and Jeff comedy.

Tomorrow, one of the best pictures of the year—William Farnum in a special attraction—"The Riders of the Purple Sage." This is a picture that everyone will like.

ROUTE TO TRUCKEE OPENED AT LAST

"It took us twelve hours to go a mile and a half but after that the going was easy," said William Wagner, who broke the trail from Reno to Truckee Saturday afternoon. Wagner, accompanied by J. C. Durham, Thomas Gibson and two mechanics, left Reno at 4 a. m. Saturday and after bucking snow nearly all day reached Truckee sixteen hours later at 8 p. m. For accomplishing the feat he won about $200 worth of automobile equipment put up as prizes by the automobile men of Reno.

It was between the first and second summits of the Dog Valley grade that the men encountered the greatest difficulties. Along the north side of the mountain overlooking Dog Valley is where the shovel came in handy and it took hours to dig a road through the snow.

Meanwhile Japan is marking time. She has a secret agreement with China respecting some important territory. It promises to be a great time for everybody to lay their cards face upward on the peace table.
